Hi I've installed the latest java 1.7 and I couldn't be anymore frustrated. The nice JNLP functionality is completely broken. Try to put a JNLP in the Standalone 64-bit java and launch it from eclipse. No results, no exceptions. When I launch a frame window from my jnlp (same jnlp launched from browser), the call is made but the the server is not responding. What is the problem? Is there any how to put the JNLP in Eclipse. I'm using SWT 2.7 Thanks for your help You can wrap your JNLP in a JAR file and add it to the startup. You can also right-click on the java file and select "Run as" and select "Run on Server". The JAR file will then be added to the java/startup directory. The present invention relates to a wheel suspension system for a vehicle having a steering system on which a brake system is mounted. Conventional steering systems for vehicles typically include a steering shaft connected by a connection device to the vehicle wheels to be steered, an intermediate shaft linked to the shaft, and a hand wheel rotatably connected to the intermediate shaft. During a given steering operation, the connection device causes the shaft to pivot in a plane parallel to the vehicle plane. Thus, to steer the vehicle in the desired direction, the hand wheel is turned to rotate the intermediate shaft. A driver's intention to turn the hand wheel in a given direction is translated by the intermediate shaft to the shaft which then functions as a lever connected to the wheels to be turned. In one class of wheel suspension systems, the vehicle includes front and rear wheel assemblies and a steering system on which is mounted a brake system. One type of brake system includes front and rear brake units which are actuated independently of each other, for example, by a master cylinder associated with the brake units and a master piston biased toward the front of the master cylinder. During a given brake application, one brake unit is actuated and the other brake unit remains inoperative. One example of a wheel suspension system of this type is described in U.S. Pat. No. 5,490,249 which provides a rear suspension having first and second links pivotally connected to each other. The first link functions as a steering link, and the second link functions as a brake link. An intermediate link interconnects the first and second links and includes a first and second pivot

Current weather If you've ever wanted a taste of an authentic Italian meal, you're in luck! The Forsyth restaurant, Cantina Italia, is one of the finest and most authentic Italian restaurants in the region. The owners have a rich heritage in Italian cooking and offer a choice of several authentic dishes. Cantina Italia was founded in 1937 by the two Palazzo brothers, who were from Italy and established the region's first authentic Italian restaurant on Kennedy Street (now Old Denmark Road) in downtown Augusta. It was called the American Tavern. They served prime meat cuts and ethnic Italian dishes at a reasonable price. Today the restaurant has several locations, including the main location at 4040 Old Denmark Road and another in the Regency Square shopping center in Augusta. Their Port St. John location is also popular. Port St. John manager Gordon Schafer has worked in the restaurant business for a long time, starting out as a fry cook. In the years following, he worked as a waiter, in kitchen and management. He says he has been in the restaurant business all of his adult life. He moved to Port St. John in 2009. Schafer is quick to tell you that if you're looking for a place to take the whole family for dinner, please don't go to Cantina Italia. "Our family-friendly menu is a little bit of different menu," he says, "We're open late, and we're not geared towards kids, but if you're an adult, you'll feel more comfortable here." The dinner menu features several authentic Italian dishes, including spaghetti with seafood or fettuccine with a meat sauce. For entrees, try the chicken alla diavola (roasted with spices and garlic), lasagna, the famous veal parmigiana and a crispy grilled chicken, with fresh lemon sauce. They serve lunch and dinner Mon.-Fri. and on the weekends. Evenings are from 4-9 p.m. Saturday is from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday is from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. To order, call 744-7032 or 771-7734.
