The former president’s reaction to the discovery of the classified information left a lasting mark on the political world: “Oh, I remember Bill Clinton was steaming about that,” Beckel said. “Clinton’s reaction to this was, in many ways, kind of a key factor in the entire problem and the entire [Hillary Clinton] problem that we’re still dealing with,” he continued. The story of that moment played out in the news media after Comey sent his letter on Nov. 6, but it has been mostly untold to the public for years. As Clinton lost the presidential election to Donald Trump, many of her supporters blamed her name-calling toward Bill and his opinion that she was “extremely careless” with classified information, which led to her defeat. “
