wars in reference to the fact that it resulted in the total destruction of every nation in the world that was considered an enemy of the Allies in the early 1940s. The war resulted in the death of about 75 million people, it caused the collapse of the classical world order, and it caused the creation of the modern world. The most conspicuous changes were made in Europe, which was devastated by the war, and in Asia, which was divided into the two world powers of the future. The war also shifted the balance of power among world superpowers in the decades that followed. I've decided to make this a continuation of the previous
